Description:

We cannot assume any liability for any data stored on the hard disk. Therefore we recommend that customers execute a backup or save their data externally before any repair or configuration work is done on their computer. Any data that may be found in your computer will be treated as strictly confidential.

The warranty period for repair work is limited to one year. Opening the casing will result in the loss of all warranty rights.

The customer agrees that the computer will not be returned until the full amount of the repair bill has been paid (in cash).
